

Join the R&DE Student Connect team today!

Are you curious and creative?

Would you like to design your own job and set your own hours?

Do you want to help Stanford students understand campus housing and dining?

Apply now to be part of the R&DE Student Connect team! In this role, you'll help amplify student voices and share useful information while leading projects like

- Learning about the inner workings of R&DE and share tips students can use to maximize their living and dining experience
- Contributing design, photography and communications projects
- Producing videos and social media content
- Leading focus groups and fun surveys to share critical feedback on student preferences and expectations
- Plan community events
- And more!

You'll work with R&DE staff to design a project that fits your interests and ours. We work with you to define the project, estimate the hours and agree on deliverables. Then we support you to make the project a success.
