

Stanford Dining, Hospitality & Auxiliaries Student Project Request Form

Thank you for your interest in partnering with Stanford Dining, Hospitality & Auxiliaries for your project.

Students working on Stanford University approved class assignments, research or capstone projects, or thesis work related to Stanford Dining, Hospitality & Auxiliaries must first gain the express written approval by Eric Montell, Assistant Vice Provost, before proceeding.

Please allow at least 5 business days for review and feedback to the initial submission. Review the conditions below before submitting your project request.

- Projects must be in support of the academic mission of the university and overseen by a faculty member. If the project involves academic research, it must be approved by Stanford's IRB.
- Projects must be in compliance with all University and R&DE policies and cannot violate the privacy or property interests of others.
- Projects cannot be disruptive to R&DE staff, customers, or business operations.
- Interview questions must be submitted in writing and approved by R&DE Strategic Communications in accordance with R&DE policy. (Please note that it may take at least 10 business days for R&DE to provide written responses to interview questions).
- Audio or visual recordings, photographs, film and video are not permitted in the dining halls.
- Under no circumstances can any information or content provided by R&DE staff or gained through additional access in the residential dining halls in the course of working on an approved student project, be used for commercial or other purposes beyond what is defined in the project request form.

Send completed project request form to rlcary@stanford.edu.

For any questions, please contact Elizabeth Hansen, Assistant Director of Hospitality Strategy & Major Events at emhasnen@stanford.edu.
